Kumagae Defeats Parker. While Mikami Takes Measure of Pell.

Ichiya Kumagae, the Tokio Tornado, ost the first set of his match with Harry S. Parker in the third round of the open tennis tournament of the Crescent Athletic Club in Brooklyn yesterday, but then reverted to his tornadic ways and eliminated his opponent from the tournament. The final score was 2-6, 6-2, 6-0.

His doubles partner, Hachishiro Mikami, was among the other victors of the day, and in defeating Clarence C. Pell, the national racquets champion, he sprang what some considered a surprise. After trailing well in the rear in the first set, Mikami came along at a fast pace and won out by the score

S. Howard Voshell, the Long Island champion, was among the other winners of the day. His opponent in the third round was Charles M. Bull, Jr., the Crescent champion, and Voshell was the victor in straight sets, at 6-2, 6-2. Voshell's opponent this afternoon will be Roland Roberts, the Californian youngstef. Roberts scored over Charles Burrowes in the singles yesterday at 6-1, 2-7, but did his best work in the doubles, with Clarence J. (Peck) Griffin, as his partner.

Brooklyn Faith.

Faith is a grand little institution. Early in the season Manager Robinson in the Travers, to be run Saturday. James Butler's Spur was sent the distance in 2:11 1-5 easily by McCormack, and Trainer Hildreth let August Belhad impressed his Brooklyn machine with the belief that it could win a pennant. Bobby had every man on the club lifted to a striking faith in final And this faith carried the team along through one or two short slumps that in other years would have soon been turned in routs. Using this faith, Brooklyn to-day is the most dangerous ball club in the league. If there is any sign of cracking it hasn't developed yet and August is now on its hurried way to September.

East and West Again.

The East and the West are lined up in another lawn tennis engagement, but it doesn't seem like old times with the name of Maurice McLoughlin missing from the Western cast.

The Comet, however, is scheduled for the national title later on, which should add considerably to the general gayety of nations. The two sections now seem well matched and the finish this week should be close, with the West holding a faint edge, as Johnston is back at his best

After the New York Yankees had been thoroughly wrecked we were merely waiting for the announcement of Tris Speaker's injury.

We knew it had to come. For New York and Cleveland in the American League had been under the ban of the Fates too long.

Early in the year the Indians lost Chapman and Klepfer for a long period. Then, just as they were at their best again, Morton, their star pitcher, was hurt after he had wen eleven out of thirteen games.

It was only a matter of how long before Speaker fell by the wayside.

New York and Cleveland for the last ten years have been harassed by hard luck beyond any other citadels.

The Elena won not only the prize in her class, but also that much coveted trophy, the Navy Challenge Cup for schooners, defeating the Katrina, owned by Commodore James B. Ford, of the Larchmont Yacht Club, by 6 minutes 38 seconds corrected time. The Katrina's owner, however, is compensated for that loss by having won the first prizes in Classes E and D.

The yacht won from the Flying Cloud, in Class E, by 4 minutes 13 seconds, and from the Irolita, in Class D, by 7 seconds, both on corrected time. In Class F, Demarest Lloyd's new schooner Amorilla was the winner from George W. Scott's Miladi by 4 minutes 5 seconds.

Best Run in Years.

Best Run in Years.

If to-day's conditions are a fair sample of what the weather man is about to furnish for the coming eight days, the New York Yacht Club will indeed be lucky, for this has been one of the best squadron runs the yachtsmen have enjoyed between the two porta for many years. There was just enough windward work in the early part of the run to make it exciting, and there was a good opportunity during about two-thirds of the ruce to make a good showing in the handling of light sails, for ballooners and spinnakers were carried some of the time on both large and small yachts.

The results show remarkably close some of the time on both large and small yachts.

The results show remarkably close work in some of the classes. In the 50-foot class George Nichols's Carolina won from William Earl Dodge's Samuri by 1 minute 34 seconds, and Harry Payne Whitney's Barbara, the third boat in this class, was only 12 seconds astern of the Samuri.

G. B. Kulenkampf's Les Mona carried off the honors of the day among the sloops, for she won the chief prize—the Navy Challenge Cup—for that rig, defeating them all on corrected time. Then she was the winner in her class, the "thirties," and she also defeated J. W. and N. E. P. Alker's Aleda by 12 minutes 30 seconds. She sailed against the best time of the "thirties."

Forties in Fine Race.

The "forties" sailed a splendid race from start to finish, and the prize was won by James E. Hayes's Zilph by the narrow margin of 21 seconds from Dr James Bishop's Pampero. Sailing in a mixed class against the Alice, the Zilph defeated that yacht on corrected time by 17 minutes 15 seconds. The sloop Doris won on actual time from the Medora in the mixed class L and M, and the winners in the auxiliary classes were the Windward and the Katoura. The last named schooner is owned by Robert E. Tod.

A pretty bit of good judgment and quick work in handling sails made Cornelius Vanderbilt's Aurora the winner in Class K. Close work between the two old rivals Aurora and Win Forties in Fine Race.

The "forties," ten of them, made one of their usual picturesque starts. The three big schooners Elena, Irolita and Vagrant were next away, crossing the line in that order, Captain William Dennis sending the Elena over first in the lee berth, with her wind clear, and under good headway. New Breeze Comes.

At noon the new breeze which came to stay from the southwest struck the yachts in the rear division, spreading up Sound so that in half an hour it had reached the leaders, which at that time had Oyster Bay abeam. Easing sheets to port and sending up ballooners, all hands began making fast time to the eastward against the last of the flood tide.

By 2 o'clock the "50s," the schooner Elens, the Irolita and the Vagrant were in mid-Sound off Black Rock and travelling at a ten-knot clip for the finish line. The "40s" were between Norwalk and Black Rock, close to the Connecticut shore, while the "30s" were just a little west of Norwalk Islands.

were just a little west of Norwall Islands.

E. C. Benedict's oceangoing steam yacht Oneida came out from Green wich Harbor at 1 p. m., and setting fore and main sails, mainstays sail and inner and outer jibs, made fast time to the eastward after the fleet.

Whitecaps topped the seas as the breeze increased late in the afternoor and while the leaders of the great fleet were approaching the finish. With fore main and mizen balloon jib topsails rounded out and pulling well, the schooner Atlantic made a spirited pict ure as she came sweeping along at twelve knots, passing one after the other of the smaller craft. The leader among the "30s" at 3 o'clock was the Les Mona.

The scene at the finish formed a spirited yachting picture, and many New Haven enthusiasts viewed it from motorboats and the shore. The yachtsmen exchanged visits among the fleet anchored to-night in Morris Cove. The start for New London will be made at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning. The rur is thirty-nine miles.
